Description

An antique Neapolitan polychrome wood sculpture depicting Saint Joseph with the Child, dating from the 18th century. The work portrays Saint Joseph in a moment of intimate and affectionate contemplation, seated and leaning against a rock, while the infant Child stands beside him, clad in a red robe and a draped blue cloak. The flowing drapery and the chromatic contrasts between ochre and blue are typical of the refined sculptural production of the mature Neapolitan Baroque. General Condition: In need of restoration. Provenance: Naples, 18th century. Dimensions: 45x28 H48cm. Documentation: Certificate of Authenticity. Assistance: We are at your disposal for further clarification or additional photographs. Shipping: Throughout Italy, Europe,
