Description

HERMÈS Arceau model watch, dating from 2010, in steel, elegantly illustrating the equestrian universe and timeless refinement of the Hermès house. Created in 1978 by Henri d'Origny, the Arceau model has become one of the Parisian house's iconic lines, immediately recognizable by its asymmetrical stirrup-inspired lugs. On this version, everything seems to be set in motion: the deliberately asymmetrical lines of the case dialogue with the graphic rhythm of the inclined Arabic numerals that enliven the dial with great modernity and lightness. The present model is also distinguished by its particularly generous 38 mm diameter, a rare dimension for this generation of Arceau models, giving it a real presence when worn and a rather masculine orientation, although the model can be mixed. The understated white dial is punctuated by blued hands and a discreet date window ("dato") positioned at 3 o'clock. The whole plays on the balance between minimalism and graphic sophistication, signature of Hermès style. The watch is equipped with a Swiss quartz movement, favoring comfort of use and precision. It is mounted on its original Hermès bracelet in purplish-blue leather, signed, preserved with its original pin buckle also signed. The crystal is sapphire. The caseback features the famous Hermès logo in the center. The watch is signed on the dial, numbered on the case back and perfectly identifiable in each of its original details. Worn, this Arceau seduces with its contemporary elegance, visual fluidity and instantly recognizable aesthetic identity. A Hermès watch that is at once discreet, refined and particularly sought-after in this large-diameter version. It is guaranteed by us to be in good working order for one year (excluding shock or immersion).
