Description

Art Deco bronze wall plaque of Christ crown of thorns signed M Thomas early XXth Created by artist M. Thomas during the Art Deco period, this signed bronze wall plaque combines the skills of master sculptors & bronziers and French religious sacred craftsmanship in the early XXth century. The Art Deco period is timeless and a pioneer of twentieth-century design, combining clean geometric forms with a strong taste for nature, making the whole luxurious and charming. Here, the bas-relief profile of Christ the King with the crown of thorns is framed by an ingenious superimposition of octagonal geometric shapes. This kind of ornamental plaque was found on wooden wall frames, or was intended for interior walls, exterior walls of believers' interiors as well as private chapels, providing a beautiful
