Description

Pair of Brutalist sconces in hammered and patinated iron, art work from the 1940s-1950s. Their sober, architectural line evokes the creations of the French modernist wrought-iron school, in the spirit of Raymond Subes or the rustic modernist productions of the mid-20th century. Each sconce features a vertical structure in hammered wrought iron, finished with a wide circular cup supporting a light. The nuanced black-brown patina with copper highlights the metal's handwork. Beautiful decorative effect, ideal in a brutalist, wabi-sabi or Mediterranean interior. Antique electricity to be checked. Sold as a pair. Dimensions: Height: 46 cm Good overall condition with traces of time and use consistent with age
