Dresden Porcelain Dancer - Early XIXe Century - Signed

290 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Porcelain

Width : 8,5

Diameter : 5

Height : 14

Description

Sublime figure of a dancer in Dresden porcelain, (a work renowned for its extremely fine lace) made in the early XIXe century, finely modeled and enhanced with delicate polychromy. The young ballerina, captured in suspended movement, wears a remarkably fine porcelain lace skirt adorned with small, hand-applied pastel flowers. The mauve bodice, airy posture and delicately painted face testify to the skill of the Saxon workshops.The piece is signed at the base, confirming its attribution.Despite some minor misses in the lace, visible on photo but almost undetectable to the naked eye, the ensemble retains all its freshness, presence and period charm. These slight alterations in no way affect the aesthetic reading of the work.Reposing on a white base with gold fillets, the sculpture unfurls

Dealer

Les Vieux Seigneurs
généraliste 18 et 19ème Siècle
Mobile : 0664587869

Terranjou 49380

a harmonious, luminous silhouette, typical of refined Dresden production.Dimensions:Height: 14 cm, Width: 8.5 cm, Diameter: 5 cmAn ideal collector's piece for lovers of fine porcelain and interiors with classic charm. Its delicate presence, suspended movement and quality craftsmanship make it a decorative object of character, capable of bringing a touch of poetry and elegance to any space.