Description

Interesting painting on canvas "in need of restoration" dating from the late 19th century or around 1900, and depicting a friendly portrait of a smiling man in a hat..The work is signed lower left, and although the signature is partially erased, it is in all likelihood by the painter Henry d'Estienne (1872-1949) / see details clichés: this canvas had been acquired with this attribution by the previous owner at an auction ... - plan a restoration to correct some lacks on the base , and a snag at the level of the neck of the character : quite basic restoration work to be done by someone of trade . Canvas :32 cm x 25 cm
Beautiful old frame in the state (some lacks): 52 cm x 46 cm - ask me for other clichés if needed
