Description

A very important silvered bronze centerpiece in five sections. With a mirrored background, each section is framed by an openwork gallery with a baluster motif, alternating with flat, projecting feet. These arched feet are fluted on both sides and terminate in balls. This centerpiece dates from the Charles X period, circa 1830, and features exquisite chasing and a beautiful silver patina. It is particularly noteworthy for its size, divided into five distinct sections, creating a surface much larger than was typical for this period. Dimensions: Height 9 cm x Length 205 cm x Depth 56.5 cm
