Description

Neoclassical sculpture in gilded wood depicting an eagle with outstretched wings, Italy, 18th century. A common motif in both sacred and secular art, the eagle--an ancient symbol of the strength and power of the Roman Empire--was perhaps used in the Neoclassical era as a tribute to Napoleonic rule. A high-quality sculpture with well-defined plumage and a beautiful original gold leaf finish. Good condition, minor signs of age. Dimensions Wingspan 45 cm H eagle 20 cm H with pedestal cm
