Description

Side table with drawerCentral Germany, circa 1840Elegant Louis-Philippe/Biedermeier-style side table, made in Central Germany circa 1840. Its clean, sober design and the warm, vibrant character of birch wood are seductive. The veneered top, mounted on a softwood frame, reveals a fine grain that lends this small table a special charm.The rectangular top with slightly beveled corners rests on a turned central leg that extends into an elegant trefoil base with harmonious curves. The fluid shape of this base lends a decorative lightness to the piece. The integrated drawer, discreetly incorporated into the structure, is particularly practical and offers increased functionality.Thanks to its shallow depth, this antique side table is ideal as an occasional table, small writing or storage table,
