Description

Giant fossilized clam "Tridacna Gigas" Length: 85 cm Width: 42 cm Weight: 50 kg approx. Sold with CITES (Washington Convention) An exceptional material, the fossilized clam gave rise to unique objects reserved for Melanesian men of power. They valued these prestigious objects, which were far more durable than wood carvings, to the point of attributing special powers to them. Today, these very rare and decorative fossilized clams can be used in original ways to decorate gardens and terraces, and to make sinks, bathroom basins, fountains, basins and waterfalls. They can be used in a variety of ways. Collect on site or send by courier. Quotation to be discussed with buyer
