Description

1950s laboratory cabinet. The cabinet features a double row of drawers that increase in size toward the bottom, a marble top with a white marble backsplash, and above that, a cupboard section with three doors featuring etched glass. The drawers and doors are rounded, all finished in ivory lacquer; the glass rests on the bottoms of many of the drawers, and the cabinet has chrome hinges. The cabinet has been sanitized and restored with a focus on conservation by our workshops. Product condition: Cabinet restored by the experts in our restoration workshop. We strive to present the actual condition of the item as completely as possible through the photos. If certain details are not clear from the photos, the information provided in the description shall prevail.
