Description

Pair of wood and iron garden armchairs - Antique late 19th century work. Elegant pair of garden armchairs combining iron structure and wooden slats, featuring a beautiful weathered green patina. Their sober, robust lines evoke the antique garden furniture of parks and terraces. The slightly curved armrests and wide-slatted backrest bring comfort and balance to the ensemble. The oxidized patina in verdigris shades lends a great deal of charm and authenticity to these seats, which can be used both in covered exteriors and in industrial or country chic-style interiors. Very decorative, they will easily find their place in a veranda, conservatory, terrace or patio.
