

Oil Painting On Copper Depicting Saint Anthony Of Padua With The Child, Early 18th Century

625 EUR

Period : 18th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Oil painting on copper

Description

The painting depicts Saint Anthony of Padua with the Infant Jesus. The iconography is classical and incorporates the traditional symbols associated with the saint: The Franciscan habit: the brown robe tied with a cord, which identifies the order to which the saint belonged. The apparition of the Infant Jesus: the child lying on a white cloth in the arms of Saint Anthony, evoking the famous mystical vision that took place in Camposampiero. The lily: the flower held by the Child, which in Christian tradition symbolizes the purity and holiness of the friar. Against the dark background, a tree emerges, along with warm, soft tones typical of Italian devotional painting from the Baroque era (17th-18th centuries).
Dimensions of the painting: 25 cm x 20 cm
