Description

Delbasten is not a mainstream artist like Géo Ham or Rob Roy, but he is highly regarded and sought after by the most discerning collectors of vintage automotive memorabilia. His original works rarely appear and are offered only very selectively at specialized auctions (especially in the Nantes and Le Mans regions), reflecting his deep connection to the historic circuits of western France. Probably produced between 1950 and 1970 out of pure nostalgia for the pioneers, these works masterfully immortalize the "golden age" of racing: a heroic and pure era, preceding the advent of mass sponsorships, when cars still proudly displayed their national colors.
