1 200 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Bon état

Material : Sterling silver

Description

Elegant pair of sculptures depicting two roosters in animated, naturalistic attitudes. Crafted in partially gilded 925 silver, these subjects seduce with the finesse of their chasing and the rich treatment of the plumage, particularly worked into the movement-shaped tails. Each rooster presents a different posture, bringing dynamism and character to the whole. The contrast between patinated silver and gilded highlights accentuates the volumes and highlights the details of the decoration. The quality of execution evokes German work of the XXe century, in the tradition of decorative goldsmith's animal pieces. Refined decorative objects, equally at home in a cabinet of curiosities or in classical or contemporary decor. Total weight: 490 grams Era: XIXe century Origin: probably Germany Material: silver
