Description

The Prestige of 19th-Century Fine Dining A beautiful table setting is defined by its details, and this extraordinary roast tongs is the ultimate testament to that. Crafted from fine silver by a French silversmith in the late 19th century, this refined piece of culinary art is a rarity designed for the most discerning collectors and lovers of elegant entertaining. Measuring 25 cm in length, the tongs are distinguished by their sophisticated clamping mechanism, designed to securely hold the leg of meat ready for carving. This mechanism features exquisite, finely chiseled decorations that evoke the ancient French nobility. The natural horn handle, with its warm hues, attests to its prestigious origins from a hunting ground, evoking the atmosphere of high-society banquets. A perfect blend of
