Description

Small Louis XVI-style mantel clock in pink marble, gilt bronze and patinated bronze - 1900 period Charming Louis XVI-style mantel clock, crafted in pink marble and richly adorned with finely chased gilt bronzes and an elegant bronze subject with brown patina.The egg-shaped case encloses a circular white enamel dial with delicate painted floral decoration. It is supported by a gilt bronze mount with naturalistic decoration, embellished with two confronting ram heads, linked by stylized branches, a decorative element emblematic of the neoclassical taste.The top is crowned by a gilt bronze group representing two doves watching over their nest lined with eggs, a symbol of peace, love and fertility. On the side, a graceful putto in brown patina bronze, in an attitude full of movement,
