Description

Art Nouveau terracotta sculpture - Young girl with little dog Charming patinated terracotta sculpture of a young girl seated on a Louis XIII-style chair. The little girl, with her delicate face and peaceful expression, affectionately holds a small dog on her lap, in a scene imbued with tenderness and gentleness. Made in two parts, the set consists of a terracotta sculpture and its wooden chair. The seat, decorated with mulching, is entirely modelled in terracotta and is an integral part of the sculpture, demonstrating the quality of the artist's work. The details of the dog's hair, clothes and coat are finely crafted, in the naturalistic spirit characteristic of Art Nouveau. This decorative work, dating from the late XIXe century or early XXe century, will appeal to lovers of genre sculpture and antique
