Description

Exhibition poster by Robert Combas, born 1957 in Lyon, produced for the exhibition Robert "Pouët Pouët" Combas at the Arca, presented from November 6 to December 31, 1984. Color offset print on paper, framed under glass. The poster is signed in pink by Robert Combas, his signature visible in the composition. The work takes its inspiration from the work of Robert Combas. The work takes up the graphic vocabulary of Combas' early years: black line, popular figure, integrated inscriptions, crude humor and references to comics, the street and musical culture. This period corresponds to the emergence of Figuration libre, a movement led in particular by Robert Combas, Hervé Di Rosa, François Boisrond and Rémi Blanchard in the early 1980s. In perfect condition, framed.
