Terracotta Group Of Two Shepherdesses With Doves, 19th Century

2 800 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Très bon état

Material : Terracotta

Height : 42 cm

Description

Elegant terracotta group featuring two young shepherdesses dressed in 18th-century fashion, observing a pair of doves at their feet.One of the young women is seated next to a book while her companion leans towards her in an attitude full of naturalness and grace. Doves, the traditional symbol of love and fidelity, enliven this charming pastoral scene. This sculpture stands out from the rest.This sculpture is distinguished by the quality of its modeling: delicately treated faces, supple, moving drapery, richly detailed costumes and beautiful expression of attitudes. The ensemble testifies to the 19th-century taste for gallant and country subjects inspired by 18th-century art.The terracotta has a pleasant old patina and rests on a circular turned terracotta base.Signature difficult to read.Some old restorations and small accidents

Dealer

Antoine Claeys - Maison du XVème
antiquaire généraliste
Mobile : 06 85 53 27 42

24 grande Rue
Nogent l'Artaud 02 310

of use, without incidence on the decorative quality of the work.French work from the 19th century.Dimensions:Height: 42 cmBase diameter: 28 cm approxCareful, secure shipping worldwide. Please contact us for shipping or further information.