Description

This rondel, with its 16th-century style and composition, is probably more recent. The spirit of the paintings by the Frankfurt Master (1460-1533) can be seen, but the glass probably dates from the 19th century. This rondel features Saint Mary and Saint Anne in the midst of reading. Between them sits the infant Jesus, flown over by the Holy Spirit; he reaches out to his grandmother, who offers him a piece of fruit. Painted in grisaille and silver yellow on colorless glass. On the photos, the yellow appears very acidic, it is actually more orange.
