Description

Wedding armoire in walnut and burl veneer, French work from the late XIXe century. This elegant armoire features an architectural front opening with two large leaves richly veneered in walnut burl with warm shades and highly decorative veining. The frieze frames harmoniously underline the central panels and bring great elegance to the whole. The overhanging cornice, fluted jambs and carved geometric decorations testify to meticulous Louis XVI-inspired work revisited in the taste of the late XIXe century. The interior uncovers several storage shelves as well as small compartmentalized drawers, offering a nice storage capacity. A discreet drawer in the lower section completes the ensemble. Very fine regional piece of furniture combining
