Description

Rare and very nice tunic, model 1893, worn by a lieutenant in the 10th cuirassier regiment circa 1911-1914. This type of tunic was worn by cuirassier officers until the start of WWI. In fine black officer's cloth, it fastens with nine large silver buttons embossed with a grenade. The number of buttons is in line with the 1911 regulations, allowing this tunic to be dated circa 1911/1914. Complete with its silver epaulettes, original sewn collar tabs with number "10", two silver flat lieutenant braids and all original mounted buttons. Black cotton lining with two inside pockets. Very fine workmanship. No visible markings. Superb overall condition. Color still fresh. Some very slight, inconspicuous flaws: a small snag towards the middle of the buttonhole, a small moth hole on the right side of the collar
