Description

A work of extraordinary charm and Belle Époque elegance for your collection. Among my offerings, this exceptional piece stands out: a splendid oil painting on canvas depicting the Portrait of a Noblewoman, Casali of Bologna, wife of Enrico Casali. The noblewoman is portrayed in formal attire, adorned with refined jewelry that attests to her high rank and social prestige. The work is attributed to the prestigious school of Giovanni Boldini, the undisputed master at capturing the grace, sensuality, and sophistication of the fin-de-siècle aristocracy. The painting, dating from the late 1800s and originating from Bologna, stands out for its fluid and vibrant brushwork, which lends extraordinary vitality to the subject. Its dimensions are ideal for enhancing an exclusive setting: Painting dimensions: H. 75
