Description

18th century English lambing chair from Snowdonia - Antique oak shepherd's chair This authentic 18th-century English lambing chair from Snowdonia, Wales, is a magnificent example of traditional craftsmanship. Made from solid oak and featuring a practical side drawer, this characterful shepherd's chair was originally used by shepherds during the lambing season. The chair is characterized by its sturdy construction, generous seat and beautiful patina acquired over the centuries. The current cushion, added at a later date, offers additional comfort. For authentic style, this antique oak chair goes perfectly with a sheepskin rug. With its warm appearance and rich history, this English lambing chair brings a touch of elegance and charm to any interior, whether country, cottage or contemporary. Its structure is
