Description

Charming little boudoir lamp dating from the 1920s, featuring an elegant gilded wooden base topped by its rare original embroidered tulle screen shade. The embroidered decoration, particularly fresh and delicate, depicts a floral and vegetal motif animated by birds, in a refined spirit highly representative of the decorative arts of the early 20th century. To preserve the authenticity of this piece, we've kept the lampshade and its period wooden socket. To make this antique lamp easier to live with every day, we've chosen modern wireless electrification. The USB-rechargeable LED bulb means you can use this lamp anywhere in the home, even without an electrical supply: on a dressing table, chest of drawers, bookcase or in a boudoir-style decorative setting. A decorative piece full of
