Description

Rare Art Deco style and period lamp depicting an elegant nude dancer holding in her hands a luminous globe in cracked frosted glass. The whole has a very fine quality of sculpture and a particularly warm golden patina. The female figure, wearing a fine egret, adopts a very theatrical and dynamic pose, characteristic of the decorative creations of the years 1925-1935. She rests on a base of black Belgian stone, highlighted by a lighter marble base that reinforces the architectural line of the composition. This work is signed by Spanish sculptor Enrique Molins Balleste (1893-1958), an artist renowned for his elegant and expressive Art Deco female figures. The electrification has been fully restored. The globe diffuses a particularly decorative soft light. A true collector's item, but
