Description

A superb piece of French Art Deco bar furniture from the 1930s, beautifully crafted in richly grained rosewood and designed with elegance and functionality. The purity of its lines is sublimated by magnificent deep-grained rosewood veneers, which adorn the doors, drawer fronts and sides. Resting on elegant curved legs, this piece embodies the refinement associated with high-quality French Art Deco furniture. Above the cabinet is a lockable drawer, retaining its original key, while below is a sliding service drawer fitted with its original glass insert. The latter shows some age-related scratches and pitting, testifying to its authenticity. It is in good condition and contributes to the period charm of the piece, but can easily be replaced if the purchaser prefers a spotless surface. Opening the lower cupboard reveals a chestnut interior, carefully fitted out and designed specifically for serving cocktails and other beverages. Doors incorporate glass holders and bottle racks, while adjustable shelves provide storage space for bottles, glasses and accessories. This practical interior arrangement gives this piece of furniture functionality intact, as much today as when it was first created. Made using the traditional dovetail assembly technique and having benefited from a complete restoration by professionals, this piece of furniture is presented in excellent condition, with a polished finish that highlights the exceptional quality of the rosewood veneer. A piece that is both decorative and practical, it will find a perfect place in a living room, dining room, bar or Art Deco interior.
