Description

Very beautiful and elegant 19th-century French still life, painted in oil on canvas, signed P. Seguin and dated 1886. This large peach still life is a fine example of late 19th-century French academic realism. The richly textured composition features a silver bowl overflowing with velvety peaches and dark grapes, accompanied by a dark glass decanter and a delicate porcelain plate with a cut peach. The artist's talent in the treatment of light is particularly noticeable in the reflections of the glass and the soft, diffused glow cast over the fruit. Details: Artist: P. Seguin, French school of the late 19th century Date: Signed and dated 1886 lower right Technique: Oil on canvas Canvas dimensions: approx. 46 x 61 cm Subject : Summer fruit, silver bowl, glassware and draped tableStyle:Classical French still life/Academic realismEra: 19th century, 1886The painting features a refined palette of deep greens, warm ochres and vibrant crimson reds. The craquelé visible on the canvas surface lends the work a sought-after antique character, ideal for a kitchen, dining room or inspirational gallery wall.The painting is unframed. It is in very good overall condition, with wear in keeping with its age, crazing and a few small paint chips where the canvas meets the stretcher. A very small restoration is visible on the reverse of the canvas.A charming, elegant and decorative antique still life, perfect for collectors of 19th-century French art or lovers of classic fruit compositions.All our paintings are packed with the utmost care to ensure safe transportation.
