Description

Beautiful set of three carved and painted wooden waders from Camargue, a region where these birds occupy an emblematic place in the landscapes of marshes and ponds. Made in the spirit of folk art at the beginning of 20th century, these birds captivate with their slender silhouettes, naïve expressions and beautiful original polychromy. The green-tinted glass eyes bring great charm and life to each subject. Mounted on slender metal legs set on wooden pedestals, they form a decorative ensemble particularly evocative of the Camargue world. Good condition. Nice old patina.
