Description

An elegant Danish wall clock dating from the late 19th to the early 20th century, featuring refined gold-leaf decoration that highlights its neoclassical style. The case features a rich ornamental design composed of ribbons, laurel leaves, and sculpted motifs of great formal balance, typical of the Nordic decorative tradition of the time.The enameled dial, with its simple and elegant lines, is framed by a finely crafted structure that gives the piece a striking visual presence. A decorative object of great charm, ideal for classical interiors, historic residences, or collections dedicated to European horology and decorative arts.
