Description

An important pair of wall sconces of Piedmontese origin, crafted in the late 18th century from finely carved and silver-plated wood. Each sconce features five light arms harmoniously integrated into the ornamental structure, giving the set a striking visual presence. The sconces are in generally good condition for their age, with wear, missing parts, and signs of aging that attest to their authenticity. They require conservative restoration to further enhance their aesthetic qualities. The electrical system requires inspection and is not guaranteed.
