Description

A richly decorated dagger with an embossed metal scabbard featuring floral and geometric decoration, showing a patina attesting to its age. The handle is made of natural material (horn), with decorative inserts and traditional ligatures.

The whole testifies to ethnic or oriental craftsmanship, typical of Middle Eastern or South Asian production. This is a very decorative handcrafted object, in good overall condition, despite traces of use, patina wear and small marks that are quite understandable for a utilitarian object. Not being a specialist in this type of object, I prefer to sell it as is. I can offer buyers careful packaging and shipping in France and Europe for EUR15.
