Description

A 19th-century oil-on-canvas portrait of Napoleon I, a follower of Jacques Louis David. A bust portrait of Napoleon I depicted in three-quarter view, dressed in the uniform of the Imperial Guard chasseurs. The Emperor wears the decorations and insignia of his rank, including an order plate on his chest. The sober treatment of the background highlights the figure of the sovereign, whose direct gaze and determined expression participate in official Napoleonic iconography. Style frame.
