Description

A pair of elegant Art Deco Italian bedside tables from the 1920s, crafted in finely grained walnut and topped with black marble with natural gold and white veining. Their design combines geometric precision and subtle ornamentation, reflecting the refinement of early Italian modernism. Each piece features a curved front and a single door opening onto a practical interior shelf. The rich walnut veneer is highlighted by darker bands that emphasize the shape, while the acanthus-shaped carved legs add a sculptural touch: a graceful tribute to classic craftsmanship reinterpreted through the prism of Art Deco. Restored with care, these bedside tables have retained their warm patina and original character, combining decorative art and functionality. Their compact, architectural presence makes them ideal
