Description

Fine weaving and ultra-graphic composition are the two main characteristics of this attractive kilim. Originating from Shirvan in the Caucasus. Ancient Shirvan productions have that refined look that characterizes them. Also, these are extremely fine, dense weavings. The piece is supple and rather light. Woven wool on wool in the traditional way. Magnificent vegetable hues, very soft and in perfect harmony. Some shades are totally unexpected, rare for a Caucasian kilim. Graphic and highly decorative. Rarely seen, its large dimensions, over 3 meters in length. Circa 1900 / 1920 Very good condition
