Description

An important Louis XVI-style dresser in the style of Riesner. Late 19th century, in very good original condition, this dresser has not been restored. In rich floral marquetry and gilded bronzes. The central door opens onto an arrangement of compartments. It also has 7 drawers mounted on rounded tails. Superb marble, 4 cm thick (good condition, tiny chips on the back, see photos) Curved sides, front with central protrusion. The structure of this chest of drawers is in oak, and is of very good cabinetmaking quality. Its proportions, and in particular its width of 1m 80, are out of the ordinary. It can therefore find its place in a beautiful room or in a castle.
