Description

Nine mouth-blown glass discs, each with a satin-finish white opaline core encircled by a transparent crystal ring, is the visual grammar of these sconces from the Vistosi glassworks, one of the founding houses of Murano lighting. Mounted on their original white-lacquered metal structure, when lit the discs reveal a diffuse, warm, luminous halo of great softness and elegance.An iconic signature of twentieth-century Italian design.A doubly rare piece: for its generous square format and for the fact that it comes in a matching pair, untouched.Sold as a pair.
