Description

An oil painting on canvas by Louis Berthommé Saint-André (1905-1977) entitled "Quadrilleuse Au Repos". There is a woman sitting in front of the spectator wearing a traditional costume for the Quadrille, a Parisian dance of the early 18th century. The woman is wearing a long red skirt with a white petticoat and also black tights matching her shoes. Her hair is decorated with a white headdress. She looks tired with her relaxed position and her face of three quarters on the left. In front of her, there is a desk with a mirror in which a bouquet of flowers reflects next to it. The fast, colorful and thick touch contrasts with the static pose of the young woman, who is probably waiting for the next dance. Born in Barbery (Oise). He takes part of the Salon des Artistes Français from 1924 to 1929 and in the Salon
