Description

Small Caucasian rug (probably Kazak), 19th century
Dimensions: 85 × 58 cm
Nice little Caucasian rug from the 19th century, from village workshops known for the graphic strength of their motifs and richness of their colors. small, highly decorative format. Its field, centered by an octagonal medallion and a dense geometric composition, has a warm red background punctuated by deep blues, ivories and greens. Stylized motifs - hooks, crosses and angular shapes - are typical of Caucasian production and give the piece a very modernity. Rich, rhythmic border reinforces the piece's character. Antique dyes, now with a patina, retain a beautiful vibrancy and bear witness authentic craftsmanship. Condition is worn, with visible traces of use, wool thinning and some
