Description

Charming 19th-century French still life depicting peaches and grapes delicately arranged on a table. Created in a warm, nuanced palette, the work is distinguished by a subtle play of chiaroscuro that lends depth and elegance to the composition. The combination of ripe fruit and woven basket creates an intimate, timeless scene, characteristic of the academic tradition of still life in the 19th century. Painted in oil on oak panel, the work is signed "Constantin" on the lower left. The artist shows real talent in rendering materials, from the delicate bloom of the grapes to the velvety texture of the peaches, which stand out with finesse against a dark, atmospheric background. The painting is presented in an elegant, fine-quality gilded wood frame, added later in the taste of the period. It perfectly showcases the work and
