Description

Exceptional zoomorphic papier-mâché piggy bank from the late 19th century The piggy bank takes the form of a costumed fish in the garb of the Garde-champêtre or town crier, complete with drum and tricorne. A small door on the side allows the coins inserted inside to be retrieved. This extremely decorative and original object was certainly originally intended to decorate a business linked to the world of the sea, such as a fishmonger's, restaurant, etc. Height: 56.5 cm Cracks and chips, good overall condition.
