Description

This late 19th-century lacquered Chinese sideboard is a superb example of craftsmanship and visual storytelling. With its two doors adorned with relief decorations depicting figures in traditional costume in an idyllic landscape, it combines elegance and functionality. The scenes, enhanced with gold, red and green lacquer, come to life against a deep black background, creating an impression of depth and movement. Circular brass handles add a discreet touch of refinement. The interior, trimmed in moiré fabric, offers a soft contrast to the lacquered exterior. Both utilitarian and artistic, this piece embodies the cultural richness and sophistication of the Qing dynasty. Perfect for collectors, it brings a touch of history and exoticism to any interior.
