Description

An elegant Italian Art Deco umbrella stand from the 1920s, crafted in warm-toned wood with the clean, architectural silhouette characteristic of the period. Carefully restored, it reveals all the depth of its grain and the elegance of its geometric proportions. The zinc-lined interior makes it both practical for everyday use and protects it from damp. With its discreet yet sculptural presence, it's ideal for an entrance, hallway or vestibule; combining functionality and aesthetics. A magnificent example of early 20th-century Italian craftsmanship, offering a timeless marriage of utility and Art Deco sophistication.
