Description

Charming stylized bird sculpture in metal and shell, French work circa 1960.This singular piece combines the graceful silhouette of a bird in worked metal with the pearly, organic material of a shell that forms its body. This creative association is typical of the decorative spirit of the 1960s, where one liked to play with natural materials and stylized forms. The shell features a discreet slight restoration that does not affect the overall charm of the piece.Ideal on a mantelpiece, console, shelf or pedestal table, this sculpture will add a poetic and bohemian touch to a classic, contemporary or eclectic interior.Piece in original condition, French charm of the 1960s.Click Here to see this piece directly on Our Website
