Description

Pair of paintings representing two landscapes signed by Régis. The first is a view of the small village of Montméjean in Aveyron, a charming little village with its lauze-roofed houses, situated on the edge of the Causse Noir and overlooking the Dourbie valley, its presence is attested as early as the end of the 11th century. The second is a view of Saint Geniès in the Dordogne, considered one of the most beautiful villages in the Périgord Noir, halfway between Sarlat and Montignac Lascaux. Its charm lies in its ochre stone houses and traditional Lauze roofs. These two paintings can be sold separately for 390 euros each. Dimensions: Montméjean: canvas: length 55 cm // height 46 cm Saint Geniès: canvas: length 38 cm // height 46 cm Postage on request.
