Description

Polychrome Geometric Kilim Rug 20th Century WorkDimensions: 193 x 160 cmLarge flat-woven wool kilim featuring a striking geometric design centred around a field of interlocking diamonds decorated with stylised cruciform motifs. A broad border of repeating geometric elements frames the composition and enhances its strong visual balance.The colour palette is particularly attractive, combining vivid reds, deep blues, ivory whites, soft yellows and blue-green tones in a harmonious yet vibrant arrangement. The freshness of the colours and the clarity of the pattern give this rug an exceptional decorative presence.The dense and regular weave highlights the quality of the craftsmanship. Its geometric motifs, rooted in the textile traditions of Anatolia and the Caucasus, retain a surprisingly modern appearance and integrate beautifully into both traditional and contemporary interiors.With its generous proportions, balanced composition and excellent condition, this kilim is a highly decorative piece capable of becoming the focal point of a room.Excellent condition throughout. Gallery's View This kilim immediately captivates through the strength of its design. The repeated diamond motifs create an almost hypnotic rhythm, while the interplay of colours brings depth and movement to the composition. Despite the richness of its decoration, the overall design remains remarkably clear and balanced, allowing it to complement both antique furnishings and contemporary interiors with equal ease. It is the kind of textile that instantly transforms a space, bringing warmth, colour and character.
