Description

PAIR OF WALNUT GALLBED CHESTBOLTSPeriod XIXe centuryRare and elegant pair of solid walnut curved corner cabinets dating from the XIXe century.Each cabinet features an arched front opening with two molded doors adorned with their original keyholes. The interior is fitted with a corner shelf offering functional storage space. The shelves are surmounted by a large openwork shelving superstructure, with an architectural and agitated design, giving the ensemble a remarkable decorative presence..The quality of the walnut, its warm patina and the beautiful wood grain contribute to the charm of this particularly decorative pair. The resin sides and backs are in keeping with the cabinetmaking techniques of the period. The set has been restored to its original
