Description

Here's the third piece of furniture from the same house, based on a variation on the bear. This is an asymmetrical sideboard in Rio rosewood and bird's-eye maple. It opens with two doors separated by two niches. The two-tiered top also features a niche open on one side and supported by a chrome-plated metal tube. The bottom and side of this niche are covered with a bronzed mirror. Everything is functional, with chrome-plated brass trim. The wood is magnificent, and the rounded sides and asymmetry make this a very well-architected piece of furniture whose shallow depth makes it easy to find a place for.
