Description

A remarkable Belgian Art Deco wall-mounted coat rack from the 1920s, crafted in solid oak with polished copper hooks in the shape of stylized hands; a refined detail that testifies to the era's fascination with craftsmanship and symbolism. Its geometric silhouette, with angular panels and stepped shelving, reflects the architectural precision characteristic of early Art Deco. The warm tones of oak contrast elegantly with the lustre of copper, creating a subtle interplay of materials. The sculptural shape of the hooks adds charm and functionality, making this piece of furniture an ideal decorative element for an entrance hall or dressing room.
